

Who are volunteers?

Volunteer – Someone who offers his or her services in exchange for experience or to broaden their knowledge but receives no monetary compensation.

Student Volunteer – A student enrolled at least half-time in high school, a technical or vocational institute, junior college, college, university, or other accredited educational institution who, with the permission of the school, voluntarily performs services to gain experience and/or educational credit.

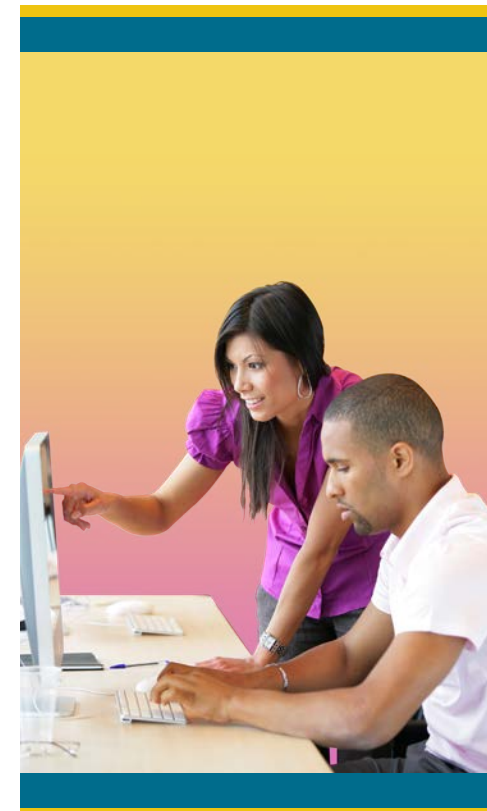

Volunteer for USDA

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) prohibits discrimination in all its programs and activities on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, disability, and where applicable, sex, marital status, familial status, parental status, religion, sexual orientation, genetic information, political beliefs, reprisal, or because all or part of an individual's income is derived from any public assistance program. (Not all bases apply to all programs.) Persons with disabilities who require alternative means for communication of program information (Braille, large print, audiotape, American Sign Language, etc.) should contact USDA's TARGET Center at (202) 720-2600 (voice and TDD). To file a complaint of discrimination, write to USDA, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20250-9410, or call (800) 795-3272 (voice) or (202) 720-6382 (TDD).

USDA is an equal opportunity provider, employer and lender.

Farm and Foreign Agricultural Services

Federal volunteers: Work Experience, Education Credit

What is FFAS?

The Farm and Foreign Agricultural Services is part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture that provides income support, loans, conservation and disaster protection and recovery, crop insurance, and foreign market outreach for farmers, ranchers and livestock producers:

- Farm Service Agency
- Foreign Agricultural Service
- Risk Management Agency

Why volunteer with FFAS?

- Earn credit towards education (as allowable)
- Build your resume with valuable work experience
- Expand your knowledge in an area of your interest
- Transition into the Student Pathways Program and prepare for a career with FFAS

Do I need an agricultural background?

No. The types of volunteer opportunities you can work on depend on your interests or area of study. FFAS has all types of jobs, from science, economics, communications, technology, conservation, international relations and more!

I'm in! Now what?

Contact the FFAS Volunteer Program Manager for more information about how to volunteer!

Shannon Logan, HR Specialist
Volunteer Program Manager
355 E Street SW
Washington, DC 20024
Shannon.Logan@wdc.usda.gov

